Consulting

How are we different from large consultancies? The difference is similar to the one between a small dynamic aircraft and a huge Dreamliner.

We are flexible, dynamic, we act quickly and what we do is not constrained by a large number of procedures.

We choose the path together with the client and modify it if the need arises. Sometimes a company may need a flight with a Dreamliner, and sometimes lean & agile is more desirable.

We believe that in every consulting process the consultants should leave the organization as soon as possible. Our task is to give you our ideas, tools and a framework for change – and your task is to develop it further.

Consulting

———— We will build the framework of team and client engagement with you

And then we will prepare your team to maintain and develop that state. Starting from calendars of daily activities (e.g. interesting morning stand-ups or actions that will “wake up” the whole office), on to restructuring the systems of employee appraisals, of sales and of customer care; so that the new, fully efficient systems will make you staff come to work with joy and so that your customers will become your fans.

———— We will strengthen your internal communication

Only 6% of employees perceive internal communication as interesting and useful (Alive with Ideas study). Has your staff already stopped reading internal emails? Does important information get lost in the mass? We will restructure your communication so that it becomes clear, interesting and inspiring.

Consulting

———— We will tell the histories of your products or services together

Do your clients look forward to the visit of your sales rep, or to visiting your shop? Does your internet website tell a modern story of people who build a brand? If not, we will bring an authentic message together – it will surely attract others.

———— Do you feel glad when internal survey participation reaches 60%?

With us it can exceed 90% - so you can honestly say this is the true voice of the company.

Consulting

———— Are there any young managers in your organization, who want to confidently step into a new role?

If so, coaching would not prove the best tool. Young managers usually need simple and reliable tools, and they need to ask questions in a safe environment.

———— Job-shadowing

Image a whole day of work with a consultant, who will observe you in action, from their own, external perspective, and then, at a good cup of coffee, share some life-hacks with you that will save your time and your energy.
